Farmers see 80 percent crop loss

Taylor County's corn crops could lose more than $14 million this year

CALEN MCKINNEY
reporter@cknj.com

He searches for a good ear. It takes him longer than he thought.

"It's bad when you have to search this long for a good ear of corn," the seasoned farmer said.

Rain showers late last week might have helped, but the majority of crops in Taylor County are still suffering from sweltering summer heat.

And everyone will likely feel the impact of this year's poor crop yield, when the farmers' losses trickle down to consumers.

"The heat's hurt us," Taylor County farmer Scott Sprowles said.

Sprowles said at least 80 percent of his 650 acres of corn has been lost because heat killed the pollination in his stalks. His soybeans and wheat crops are also suffering. They are at about a 30 to 35 percent loss.

A bit further down on his farm, Sprowles' beef cattle are struggling to stay cool. Industrial fans help, he said, but don't completely eliminate the heat.

"It's hard on the cows," Sprowles said. "It's just a challenge. We have to look at it as a challenge.

"We can never give up. We've got to keep fighting. Just keep going."

When a farmer has a bad year, he said, it typically takes two to three years for them to rebound.

Schools set for new school year

Orientations begin today to help students start the new year

reporter@cknj.com

After several weeks of sleeping in, it's about time for local students to set their alarm clocks again.

Classes start at local school systems in a matter of days, and orientations to make sure students have everything they need to start the school year off right begin today.

Campbellsville Independent School students head back to class on Thursday, Aug. 2. Students at Taylor County and Kentucky Christian Academy begin classes on Tuesday, Aug. 7.

There will be a few changes at local schools this year.

Students at Taylor County will pay a bit more for lunch this year. Elementary students will pay $1.60. At the middle and high school, students will pay $1.85. Those who qualify for reduced lunch will receive free lunch this year.

At Campbellsville schools, all students will eat breakfast and lunch free.

Taylor County Elementary School students will see a new face as their principal this year. Taylor County Middle School teacher Donna Williams was recently named interim principal after Brian Clifford resigned.

Local park systems full of residents looking for free fun

They offer swimming, swinging and fun in the sun. And they are open to anyone and, for the most part, going there is free.

Taylor County is home to three public park systems — Miller Park, Green River Lake State Park and Veterans Memorial Park.

According to officials from each park, the parks stay busy and offer an important service to the community.

Gil Lawson, spokesperson for the Department of Parks, says GRL is a large tourist attraction to the area and brings in people who shop and eat in Taylor County.

"It's an amenity for the community," he said. "These are people who are visiting from other parts of the state.

"It's one thing you can say, it's a nice thing we have in our backyard here."

Miller Park

Campbellsville Mayor Tony Young said Miller Park was built in the 1960s and allows ample opportunity for exercise and spending time with family.

The park offers baseball and softball fields, tennis courts in the midst of being remodeled, a creek and picnic area, horseshoes, corn hole, volleyball, a skating park, an Olympic-size swimming pool, a par-three golf course and more. All the activities are free, except for admission to the swimming pool. Playing the golf course is free, something Young says he

12-year-old boy saves aunt's life

Calls 911, ties shirt around wounded arm

JEFF MORELAND
publisher@cknj.com

Some people believe Friday the 13th is an unlucky day.

Melissa Harris of Campbellsville might believe the same following an experience she had on Friday, July 13. But before the day was over, she found herself feeling very lucky, because her life had been saved.

Harris was at her sister's home that morning. She was alone with her two nephews, 12-year-old Austyn Thornton and 8-year-old Dalvian Thornton.

As she started walking in the back door, Harris tripped on a flip-flop she was wearing and fell, running her arm through the glass of the door.

"My flip-flop went out from under me, and I fell and cut my arm all to pieces," she said. "I was just screaming for Austyn. He tied my arm off and called 911. He saved my life."

Austyn heard his aunt screaming for help and quickly realized what happened was much worse than he thought.

"I thought the shelf in the living room fell until I walked down the hallway and saw her holding on to her arm. It was very loud," he said. "I got my phone and called 911. I walked around the house because I wasn't wearing any shoes. I came around the house and grabbed a T-shirt and wrapped her arm up while I was talking to 911."

According to Ronnie Dooley, assistant 911 supervisor at the Campbellsville/Taylor County E-911 Center, Austyn kept very calm in a serious situation. Dooley said a trainee answered and did a fine job with Austyn's call.

Schools: Set for new school year

At TCMS, Tony Jewell is the new principal after serving as vice principal. Former Principal C.D. Harvey retired June 30 after 22 years at the helm.

Information about orientation events for the local school systems follows.

For more information about Campbellsville schools, visit the District's website at www.cville.k12.ky.us.

For more information about Taylor County schools, visit www.taylor.k12.ky.us.

To learn more about Kentucky Christian Academy, visit www.kcswarriors.com.

For information about dress codes, bus routes, school calendars and tips on buying school supplies, see Pages A6 through A10.

Campbellsville Elementary School

Campbellsville Elementary School will host orientation for kindergarten students on Monday, July 23, from 5 to 6 p.m. and for grades one through four on Tuesday, July 24, from 5 to 6:30 p.m.

During the event, students and parents will register, meet their teachers, visit classrooms and complete paperwork. Transportation officials will attend to discuss bus routes.

New students will need several items before officially enrolling into school, including a physical examination, up-to-date immunizations, a certified birth certificate, their Social Security number and eye and dental exams. They will also need to provide proof of residency.

The school day will start at 8:10 a.m. and end at 2:50 p.m.

Ricky Hunt is CES principal. For more information, call the school at 465-4561.

Campbellsville Middle School

Campbellsville Middle School will host an orientation on Thursday, July 26, from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m., according to Principal David Petett. During the evening, students will meet their teachers, receive schedules and tour the building. New students can attend and go through the enrollment process with guidance staff.

Petett said those new students who can't come to the orientation can stop by the school sometime this week.

Classes at CMS will begin at 8 a.m. and end at 2:50 p.m. Petett said the school will continue to operate on an eight-period schedule that includes an extra period for intervention and enrichment opportunities.

Petett said school pictures this year will be taken on the first day of school, Thursday, Aug 2.

For more information, call 465-5121.

Campbellsville High School

Campbellsville High School has planned schedule pickup days according to class.

Juniors and seniors can pick up their schedules on Tuesday, July 24, from 9 a.m. to noon. Sophomores can get their schedules that day from 1 to 3 p.m. Freshman will have orientation Thursday, July 26, from 5 to 6:30 p.m.

During the orientation, students can tour the school, meet their teachers and pick up their schedules.

The school day at CHS will begin at 8 a.m. and end at about 2:50 p.m. and operate on a period schedule.

Kirby Smith is principal. For more information, call 465-8774.

Taylor County Schools

Taylor County Elementary School will have orientation Thursday, Aug. 2, for students in grades one through five.

Students with last names beginning with A through M should attend from 5 to 6 p.m. and those with last names beginning with N through Z from 7 to 8 p.m.

A kindergarten kickoff will be Friday, Aug. 3, from 4:30 to 6 p.m.

At orientations, students will meet their teachers, see their classrooms, receive supply lists and parents will complete paperwork.

New students will need to call the school to get paperwork and find out what exam records are needed.

The school day at TCES begins at 8 a.m. and ends at 2:55 p.m. The school will release students at 1 p.m. on Fridays.

Donna Williams is interim principal. For more information, call 465-5691.

Taylor County Middle School

Taylor County Middle School will not host an orientation this year.

Principal Tony Jewell said students should have received all paperwork, class schedules and all other orientation materials on the school's bump-up day during the last school year on May 8.

During the day, students are "bumped up" a grade and learn what they will experience the following year. He said the day helps with any anxiety students may have about the next school year.

TCMS recently hosted its Cool School camp for incoming sixth graders to help them become familiar with their new school.

TCMS will begin the school day at 8 a.m. and end at 3 p.m. and operate on the same seven-period schedule as last year. The school will release students at 1 p.m. on Fridays.

For more information, call 465-2877.

Taylor County High School

Taylor County High School also won't have an orientation event this year.

However, the school will host a three day camp called Freshman Focus, from Wednesday, July 25, through Friday, July 27.

On Wednesday and Thursday, the camp will be from 10:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. On Friday, camp will be from 2 to 6 p.m. and parents can attend. Principal Charles Higdon Jr. will speak to the group at about 5:15 p.m.

During camp, the incoming freshmen will go through the lunch line, meet their teachers, become familiar with the school, meet upper class mentors and more.

Those who attend should bring a combination lock if they intend to have one on their locker.

New students can enroll at TCHS on Wednesday, July 25, and Thursday, July 26, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The school day at TCHS will begin at 8:05 a.m. and end at 3:05 p.m. The school will release students at 1 p.m. on Fridays. The school will continue to run on a seven-period schedule.

For more information, call 465-4431.

Kentucky Christian Academy

Kentucky Christian Academy will have orientation for Sonbeams and first grade students on Thursday, Aug. 2, at 5:30 p.m. and for students in grades two through five at 6:45 p.m. Only parents should attend.

They will meet teachers, fill out paperwork and should bring their children's school supplies.

Sonbeams, preschool and kindergarten students can attend an open house on Friday, Aug. 3, from 3 to 5 p.m. Students will meet teachers and see their classrooms.

New students can enroll from Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. There are openings available for kindergarten through fifth grade.

The KCA school day will begin at 8:15 a.m. and end at 3 p.m.

Tuition is $3,500 for the first child and $2,800 for the second.

Lori Eubank is administrator. For more information, call 789-2462.

Boy: Saves aunt's life

"[Austyn] did a good job. The dispatcher kept him on the phone until EMS arrived, and he was quick to follow instructions," Dooley said. "He only got excited when he was going to wrap her arm and he saw the exposed wound, but the dispatcher coached him through it."

EMS personnel have commended Austyn for his quick thinking in a traumatic situation. Major Bill Bemis with Campbellsville/Taylor County EMS said Austyn did a very good job. Bemis responded to the scene, along with Major Mike Curnutte.

"He stopped the most severe part of the bleeding, then he dialed 911," Bemis said. "He was visibly shaken when we got there, but he was still composed. He was also very well mannered, saying 'Yes sir' and 'No sir.' My professional opinion is that his quick actions were instrumental in saving her."

Bemis said any time there is an arterial bleed, as he said was the case with Harris, the injury is life-threatening.

"Most children that age, if they're experiencing something like that, they get shook up," Bemis said. "I've been in this [line of work] quite a while, and most kids that age, at no fault of their own, don't know what to do and get shook up. [Austyn] acted very quickly, and we had a positive outcome."

The outcome for Harris included a four-hour emergency surgery and a night's stay at Taylor Regional Hospital. She is now home, recovering from the injury with the help of her sister, Austyn's mother, Paula Thornton-Thompson.

"We just thank God that Austyn has the wisdom and understanding of what to do in an emergency. He's always been a smart boy, and been one to excel in most things. We're proud of him," Thornton-Thompson said.

Harris continues to praise Austyn for his quick thinking and heroic actions.

"I'm so thankful. He's a hero. He saved my life."

Not only was Harris fortunate to have Austyn's help, she was lucky he was at home when she fell.

Austyn will be an eighth grader at Campbellsville Middle School next month, where he plays football. The morning of her fall, he was at home because he had been sick that morning and was not able to attend practice.

As for Austyn, all of the talk of being a hero doesn't bother him a bit. When asked if he feels like a hero, he smiled, nodded his head and gave a thumbs-up.

Local Briefs

Four injured in hit-and-run crash

Four people were injured Sunday, July 15, morning in a two-vehicle hit-and-run crash on Blue Hole Road.

According to a Taylor County Sheriff's Office report, a person driving a 1982 Chevrolet struck William B. Tompkins, 21, of Springfield, who was driving a 2006 Mazda, at 1:48 a.m. and then fled the scene.

Campbellsville/Taylor County EMS personnel transported Tompkins and his passengers Sydney Lamer, 17, William Osinger, 31, and Paula Burkhart, 32, to Taylor Regional Hospital for treatment of non life-threatening injuries. They were all treated and released.

Taylor County Sheriff's Deputy Rodney Cox investigated.

Firefighters respond to hay fire

Taylor County Volunteer Fire Department personnel responded to a hay fire on Monday, July 16, on KY 210.

According to a news release, 20 personnel responded with three apparatus at 3:24 p.m. and found several bales of hay on a trailer fully engulfed in flames.

Firefighters wet the hay and the owner was able to remove the hay with a tractor. The hay was a total loss, the report states, though the trailer was saved from damage.

The cause of the fire is undetermined at press time. Taylor County Sheriff's Office personnel assisted at the scene.

One injured in KY 744 crash

A teenager was injured in a one-vehicle crash on KY 744 on Wednesday, July 11.

According to a Taylor County Sheriff's Office report, Megan Hash, 23, of Campbellsville, was traveling in a 2012 Chevrolet on Old Spurlington Road at 1:30 a.m. when she struck a tree.

Campbellsville/Taylor County EMS personnel transported Jared Brewer, 16, also of Campbellsville and a passenger in Hash's vehicle, to Taylor Regional Hospital. He was treated and released.

Hash and Jay Gaines, 15, and Mason Gaines, 11, also of Campbellsville and passengers in the vehicle, weren't injured in the crash.

Taylor County Sheriff's Deputy Rodney Cox investigated.

One injured in Maple Street crash

A Campbellsville man was injured in a two-vehicle crash on Maple Street last Wednesday.

According to a Campbellsville Police report, officers responded to a report of an injury collision at the intersection of North Central Avenue and Maple Street at 4:48 p.m.

Sara Teel, 22, of Campbellsville, was driving a 1995 Chevrolet Camaro east on Maple Street.

According to the report, evidence collected during the investigation indicates that Teel pulled into the path of Donovan Pittman, 21, of Campbellsville, driving a 2002 Kia Sephia traveling north on North Central Avenue.

Campbellsville/Taylor County EMS personnel transported Pittman to Taylor Regional Hospital. He was treated and released.

Taylor County Sheriff's Office and Campbellsville Fire & Rescue also responded.

Campbellsville Police Officer Andy Warren investigated.

FINANCIAL FOCUS

"Millennials" in Good Position to Invest for the Future

If you were born anywhere from 1982 to 2001, or within a few years of this range, you are considered a "Millennial." As a member of this group, you share many things —cultural references, familiarity with technology, attitudes toward work and family — with others your age. And if you're one of the "older" Millennials, you and your peers have something else in common — specifically, you have a good opportunity to launch investment strategies to help you save for the future.

Why are you so well positioned to invest for the future? For one thing, it's because you have so much of the future ahead of you. As an investor, time is your greatest ally, for a couple of reasons. First, the more years you have to invest, the greater the growth potential of your investments. And second, by investing for the long term, you can help reduce the impact of periods of short-term volatility on your portfolio.

Furthermore, since you may be in the early stage of your career, you probably have yet to reach your maximum earnings and may be eligible to put in the full annual amount to a Roth IRA, one of the most effective retirement savings vehicles available. (Eligibility to contribute to a Roth IRA is phased out over a specific income range.) When you invest in a Roth IRA, your earnings have the opportunity to grow tax free, provided you don't start taking withdrawals until you're at least 59 1/2 and you've had your account for at least five years.

Even if you do contribute to a Roth IRA, you can still participate in your employer-sponsored retirement plan, such as a 401(k) if you work for a company, a 457(b) if you work for a state or local government, or a 403(b) if you work for a school or other tax-exempt organization. And you should indeed contribute to your employer's plan, because it offers some key benefits: Your earnings accumulate on a tax-deferred basis, and you typically fund your plan with pre-tax dollars. So the more you put in, the lower your taxable income. (Taxes are due upon withdrawal, and withdrawals prior to age 59 1/2 may be subject to a 10% IRS penalty.)

The amount you can afford to put into your 401(k) or other employer-sponsored plan depends on your earnings and other circumstances — but you should at least strive to contribute enough to earn your employer's match, if one is offered. Otherwise, you'll be walking away from "free" money.

All the money you contribute to your plan is yours, but if you leave your job before a specified vesting period — which often ranges from three to seven years — you may not be able to keep all your employer's contributions. Check your plan's rules to see how this applies to you.

Of course, since you, as a Millennial, are in the early stage of your working years, you may well be on the lookout for new job opportunities. But if you are close to being fully vested in your 401(k), you might consider waiting a few extra months — or even a year — to take a new job, so that you can leave with the money your employer has contributed.

As a Millennial, you've got time on your side as you invest for the future. So make sure you take advantage of all the opportunities that come your way.

Teachers offer tips for buying school supplies

Average cost to send a child back to school is $800

SHANNON CLARK
news@cknj.com

Eight hundred dollars. That's what an average family of four spent last year on back-to-school items, according to the American Express Spending and Saving Tracker.

The costs were divided among clothing, shoes, school supply lists and the latest gadgets and electronics. The report states that 67 percent of parents said their back-to-school purchases were driven mostly by their children's wishes.

As parents have begun preparations for back-to-school shopping, local teachers have offered a few suggestions for a basic supply list.

Ashlee Petett, a Campbellsville Elementary School teacher, said some of the basic items an elementary student would need include pencils, glue sticks, crayons, markers, loose-leaf paper, notebooks, tissues and hand sanitizer.

"Of course, we always have extra requests for stickers and candy for the treat box," she said.

Kelly Milburn, a teacher at Taylor County High School, said she doesn't require a lot for her classroom.

"I like for them use three-ring binders to keep up with homework and I also require each student bring two packs of pencils."

She said that one new addition to the list this year is a USB flash drive so students can keep up with work digitally.

"Other teachers commonly require items such as folders and notebooks and voluntary things such as tissue or hand sanitizer," Milburn said.

Several area teachers offered tips on how families can save money on supplies. They include:

- Check ads in the local newspaper for deals and promotions.
- Compare ads and ask local businesses if they price match.
- Buy in bulk when items go on sale because many items like crayons and pencils often need replacing.
- For classes requiring separate notebooks, see if using one large binder divided into sections is acceptable.
- Check online for coupons and deals, as well as sites that offer free shipping.

For more information, look for school supply lists posted in local stores or contact the local school system.

What to wear to school, and what not to wear

Local schools release student dress codes

SHANNON CLARK
news@cknj.com

Tis' the season for back-to-school shopping and parents and students alike might be relieved that dress code policies for local school systems aren't changing much from last year.

Administrators from Kentucky Christian Academy, Taylor County schools and Campbellsville Independent schools say that changes, if any, are minor.

David Petett, Campbellsville Middle School principal, said one notable change in his school's policy is that students will not have to tuck in their shirts.

Taylor County Middle School Principal Tony Jewell said the dress code policy was changed in April, making it more consistent with other schools in the district.

For more information, contact the local school systems.

Below are a few tips when preparing for the upcoming school year.

Schools release 2012-2013 bus schedules

Some routes, drivers to be determined

SHANNON CLARK
news@cknj.com

Donna Gaddis, transportation director at Campbellsville Independent Schools, and Rod Turpin, transportation director at Taylor County School District, have released bus routes for the upcoming school year.

"Currently, we are performing maintenance on our buses and getting them ready for the school year," Turpin said.

Turpin and Gaddis say they try to keep students hydrated and the buses well ventilated to be safe during rides home on hot days.

"I look for the buses of the future to be air-conditioned, but that will be down the road," Turpin said.

However, Turpin says he doesn't see the addition of seat belts in buses in the future.

"Studies have shown that seat belts are not the way to go," he said.

Head driver trainer Brad Lackey said that the high-back seats in buses have shown to be secure in crashes and allow students to brace themselves.

Gaddis and Turpin said safety is always a top priority when transporting students.

Bus routes for the 2012-2013 school year are as follows.

Campbellsville Independent Schools

Bus 1
Driver: Tim Tungate

The morning route will begin at about 6:50 a.m. on North Columbia Avenue. Stops for Third Street, Columbia Court, Wilcox Street and Howell Street will be on North Columbia Avenue. TC superintendent doing 'excellent' job

'There's a lot of personal reasons for what I do.'

reporter@cknj.com

Taylor County School's top official is doing an "excellent" job, according to Taylor County School Board members.

Superintendent Roger Cook had his annual evaluation on Thursday night in closed session. Board members discussed the review for about an hour.

When coming back into regular session, Board Member David Hall said Cook is rated on a scale of 1 to 4, with three being excellent and four being outstanding.

Out of 10 evaluation reports, Cook received scores of 3, 3.35, two 3.5s, 3.75 and five 4s. The scores average to 3.71.

Cook said he wasn't expecting a top score.

"I don't expect a 4," he said. "I'm not Jesus Christ. He's the only perfect human."

Hall said Cook turned down a salary increase in response to his evaluation. Hall said Board members appreciate that during a struggling economy and when other teachers haven't gotten raises. He said the Board is discussing how to show Cook their appreciation for him and his work.

Cook said he has five grandchildren who will attend school at the Taylor County School District.

"There's a lot of personal reasons for what I do," he said.

Cook said he hopes to someday be able to build new schools in the District.

"The perfect utopia of a school system," he said. "That's what I'd like to do."

Cook said he appreciates his good evaluation and that people always want to hear that others like the job they are doing.

Board Chair Tony Davis said it is unbelievable how much the District has improved with Cook at the helm.

"You're willing to go out there and do what needs to be done," Davis said.

"That's the only non-negotiable," Cook said. "What's right for the kids."

Interim Principal

Cook told Board members that Taylor County Middle School teacher Donna Williams, who was a finalist for the state's Teacher of the Year award last year, has principal credentials but hasn't taken a required exam.

He said she must do so before taking the reigns as interim principal at Taylor County Elementary School.

Cook said he feels confident that Williams will do a good job at the post and will be given lots of support.

He said he may talk to Board members in the future about splitting TCES into two schools, as he proposed during the process of discussing whether to use an interim principal at TCES after hiring a replacement for Brian Clifford proved difficult.

Cook said state officials have said the school must be divided to receive any state money to build new schools.

"It needs to be done," he said, "It's just too large."

Cook said there will be many administrators pitching in to help Williams in the absence of TCES Assistant Principal Melissa Long, who just gave birth to a baby boy and is on maternity leave.

"I'm not gonna allow that school to fail," Cook said.

Cook said applications for the principal position at TCES will continue to be accepted.

In all, he said, fewer than 10 were received and TCES Site-Based Decision Making Council members didn't agree on hiring those who were interviewed.

Also at the Meeting:

• Cook said the District is in the process of performing maintenance to its air conditioning systems and doing some blacktopping to prepare for the upcoming school year.

• The Board voted to give Taylor County High School athletic department its annual $25,000 contribution to help pay for its costs. Cook said the department uses that money and proceeds from gate admissions to help make its budget. Cook said he offered to give the department $30,000 if officials would guarantee that all students who receive good grades would be admitted to games for free. That didn't come to fruition, he said.

• The TCHS Marching Band was given its annual $22,000 contribution by the Board. Cook said the band will do several fundraisers throughout the year to help pay for travel and equipments costs.

• Several travel requests were approved, including monthly regional technology meetings, an annual conference in Richmond and a fall institute meeting.

• The Board approved a Family Resource and Youth Services Center contract, which will bring about $153,000 to the District.

• Southern Foods Inc. was awarded the bid to provide food for the District.

• Cook said TCHS is one of 50 schools in the state asked to participate in a pilot teacher and principal evaluation program.

• The Board had final reading of changes to the District's acceptable computer use policy and policy and procedure updates.

Administrative Reports

• Food Service Director Kathy Phelps presented a year-end financial report, which states that food service had a good year, with a net gain of more than $59,000.

• Director or Finance Marcie Close presented the District's year-end report, which states that revenue was up last school year and expenses were down. The year began with about $3.5 million and ended with $3.7 million.

• TCHS Principal Charles Higdon Jr. said the school's ACT scores are up and above state averages in all categories. He said the school recently completed its third year with a zero percent drop-out rate. TCHS is the only school in the state to boast that statistic, he said.

COOK

• Taylor County Virtual Academy Principal Dr. William Mattingly said the academy will soon expand its foreign languages offerings and is growing exponentially. He said many of its students are completing college credit and have improved their test scores.

• Taylor County Middle School Principal Tony Jewell said his students recently completed a camp to help students with the transition from elementary to middle school. He said his school is using video teaching methods to help students learn lessons at home and at school.

• TCES Bookkeeper Karen Reynolds said the school is doing maintenance to prepare for the new school year and is appreciative of being able to use inmates from the Taylor County Detention Center to help with cleaning, painting and yard work.

Personnel Report

• Resignations — Shannon Clark, grant writer/public information officer; Shannon Gootee, occupational therapist; Jennifer Clifford, 21st Century grant program director; and Robert Lynn Kearney, TCHS teacher and FCA coach.

• Transfers — Greg Oliver, TCHS social studies teacher.

• New hires — Bobby Price, substitute custodian; Autumn Graham, substitute teacher; Neil Sanders, TCES physical education teacher; Natalie Curry, occupational therapist; Rollin McFarland, TCMS social studies teacher; and Stephen Zink, TCMS ECE teacher.

TCHS FFA group wins awards at state convention

Several receive FFA degrees

Taylor County FFA members recently attended the Kentucky annual state FFA Convention in Lexington and took home several awards.

Members attending were Rachel Hinton, Jacob Clark, Patrick Newton, Austin Benningfield, Cody Bowling, Steven Smith, Winnie Cheuvront, Cindy Wooldridge, Jodie Phillips, Aaron Watson, Hannah Hall, Brittany Gaddis, Angella Farmer, Mariah Corbin, Brittany McFarland, Zack Richerson, Erin Underwood, James Malone, Garrett Haggerty, Samantha Buckman, Jon Sanders, Dylan Gribbins, Matt Parrish, Cody Crabtree, Mason Arnold and Weston Sullivan.

Mariah Corbin received third place in swine production placement proficiency and second place in swine impromptu speaking.

Hannah Hall received third place in fruit and vegetable impromptu speaking.

Shelby Sheridan received second place in veterinary science proficiency. Rachel Hinton placed second in the creed-speaking contest.

Farm Management team members Cody Bowling, Cindy Wooldridge, Jodie Phillips and Winnie Cheuvront received a second place award.

Record Keeping team members Rachel Hinton, Jacob Clark, Patrick Newton and Austin Benningfield also received a second place award.

Rachel Hinton, in the first time Taylor County FFA has entered, placed first in the agricultural science fair and will compete at nationals in October.

James Malone received first place in ag mechanics repair and maintenance proficiency and will also compete at the upcoming national convention.

TCHS had two regional stars representing the Lake Cumberland region. Erin Underwood was a star in production and Mariah Corbin was in placement. Mariah Corbin placed in the top five in the state.

Members receiving the state FFA degree were Hunter Pelly, Shelby Sheridan, Hannah Price, Steven Smith, Brittany Gaddis, Erin Underwood, Ashley Gilbert and Katelyn Roby.

EDUCATION BRIEFS

Shines named All-American Scholar

SHINES

The United States Achievement Academy recently announced that Hannah Shines of Campbellsville has been named an All-American Scholar.

The USAA has established the All-American Scholar Award Program to offer recognition to superior students who excel in the academic disciplines. All-American Scholars must earn a 3.3 or higher GPA. Only scholars selected by a school instructor, counselor or other qualified sponsor are accepted.

Shines, who attends Taylor County High School, was nominated for the award by Lynn Kearney. Shines will appear in the All-American Scholar Yearbook, which is published annually.

Shines is the daughter of Maida Shines of Campbellsville. Her grandfather is Michael Shirley of Campbellsville.

CU education instructor receives promotion

Dottie Davis of Campbellsville, instructor in education at Campbellsville University, has been promoted to assistant professor of education, according to an announcement from Dr. Michael V. Carter, president of CU.

Davis, an alumna of CU, has served at the university since 1994. She began as administrative assistant to the president before beginning her role as an instructor in 2001.

Davis has also served as a third-grade teacher at Campbellsville Elementary School from 2004 to 2005.

She received a Bachelor of Arts in early elementary education from the University of Kentucky in 1989, a Master of Arts in education in 1999 and Rank I in education and gifted and talented education in 2011, both from CU and is pursuing a doctorate in education from Capella University in Minneapolis, Minn.

The Jesus Name Church

invites you to their services

Wednesday Night 7:15 pm

Saturday Night 7:15 pm

Sunday Morning 10:30 am

We also have a broadcast on Sunday Mornings at 9:30 am on WGRK 103.1 FM

Have You Thought About Your Soul?

Have you ever stopped to wonder,
What this life is all about?
Why you're here and where you're going,
When your lease on time runs out?

Maybe you've been far too busy,
Trying hard to reach your goal;
Would you let me ask you kindly,
Have you thought about your soul?

You may reach the highest portals,
And your dreams may all come true;
Wealth and fame may be your portion,
And success may shine on you,

All your friends may sing your praises,
Not a care on you may roll;
What about the great tomorrow?
Have you thought about your soul?

Don't forget your days are numbered,
Though you may be ridin' high,
But like all of us mortals,
Some day you'll just up and die.

Your success and fame and glory
Won't be worth the Bell they toll;
Let me ask you just one question,
Have you thought about your soul?

If you've never thought it over,
Spend a little time today,
There is nothing more important,
That will ever come your way

Than the joy of sins forgiven,
And to know, you've been made whole,
In the name of Christ the Savior,
Have you thought about your soul?

Crops: Farmers see 80 percent crop loss

Pat Hardesty, Taylor County Extension agent for Agriculture and Natural Resources, said the impact of the recent sweltering heat in Taylor County could likely be felt for longer than two or three years.

"It's hot," he said. "It's hot with a capital H-O-T."

Hardesty said farmers in the area have told him this summer has been the hottest in the past 56 years.

"Most mature folks I've talked to don't remember a summer like this."

Temperatures have hovered in the high 90s to low 100s, with heat indexes falling in the low 100s.

The corn crop typically brings $18 million into Taylor County, Hardesty said, at a conservative estimate. This year's yield is estimated to bring in $3.6 million, which he says will be devastating to farmers.

Hardesty said Taylor County's corn crops are at about an 80 percent loss.

"It's bad," he said. "That's gonna hurt. That's just corn alone."

One of the most obvious impacts of the heat will be a reduced yield of crops and a reduced quality of what is harvested. Hardesty said tomatoes are suffering from end rot and beans have been limp and rubbery.

Hardesty said about 35 percent of soybeans in Taylor County have been lost to the heat, nearly 50 percent of tobacco crops are gone and there is about a 50 percent drop in farmers' pastures. As a result, he said, farmers have had to feed their animals hay already.

Hardesty said some corn crops will need to be reseeded and some late-planted crops might have rebounded because of recent rain.

"Corn has not pollinated properly," he said. "There's a lot of plants without an ear on them."

Some farmers have resulted to chopping down their corn crops, Hardesty said, when they normally would be shelling it.

Hardesty said about 40 percent of corn crops are used for ethanol. He said a lower yield could reduce that amount, leaving a shortage.

"Until we get into harvest," he said, "we won't know for sure."

As another impact of the heat, Hardesty said, residents could lose part of their lawn because of the lack of rain. Some plants have also died, he said, while others are quick to rebound.

"That's a magical thing," Hardesty said. "It rains last night and everything looks a little greener."

Dairy cattle are likely producing less milk, he said, because the heat stresses them. He said some might suffer from abortions or have trouble breeding.

That will mean farmers will either have late calves next year or none at all, which will likely cause dairy and meat prices to increase because of their lower quantity. The heat can also cause cattle to be more aggressive and fight each other, which could also result in lower breeding rates.

Local farmer and President of the Taylor County Farmers' Market Association Dan Flanagan said vegetables like the ones residents grow in their gardens have also been greatly. impacted by the heat because they are very susceptible to high temperatures. That doesn't mean, however, that staple vegetables aren't for sale at the farmers' market. But they may be few and far between.

"We still have most everything available," he said. "There may be a scarcity of sweet corn and green beans.

"[Customers might hear], 'I would normally have that but I just don't this year.'"

Flanagan said farmers, like him, who have been able to irrigate their crops have a better chance of having a decent yield this year. But those who didn't irrigate may not have any corn crops this year.

"I think no question it's going to be a bad year," Flanagan said.

He said he discussed the very subject at a meeting of the Kentucky Council on Agriculture last Thursday. The dialogue centered on how farmers will soon see just how little their yield is after harvesting in late August or early September.

"They are very much impacted by the lack of rain and the drought."

Flanagan said another concern discussed by the Council was that retailers will spike their prices in anticipation of having to pay farmers more for their fresh vegetables.

In particular, he said, shoppers will very likely see increases in the cost of groceries that contain corn syrup. Those items, he said, are numerous.

Shoppers could also see a lack of fresh fruits and vegetables, especially the staple foods sweet corn, green beans and tomatoes.

Hardesty said consumers will likely soon see higher prices for foods like peanut butter, soft drinks, meats and a variety of snacks.

"It's gonna hit local consumers pretty hard, I think," he said.

Hardesty said residents will likely also see higher air conditioning bills. The bill at the Taylor County Extension Office increased by 35 percent this month.

And because farmers will likely lose money this year, Hardesty said, some might not be able to pay their bills.

Taylor County farmer Scott Sprowles shows a decent ear of corn on the left and what some ears look like today because of the sweltering heat.

"You will have some people not to be able to meet their obligations this year."

As a result, he said, lending institutions might begin to suffer.

And even though Taylor County will suffer because of the heat, Hardesty said, those in some other parts of the state will suffer even more.

"In western Kentucky, some have crops dying in the field," he said. "They're not gonna have anything to harvest. We are better off than a lot of areas. We don't have to look to [far] to find folks in worse shape than us."

Hardesty said the farmers he has talked to see this year as a challenge to manage their farms better next year.

"Farmers are talking about next year," he said. "We've had challenges before but not like this."

believes is rare, and the city's pool has recently seen some improvements.

"Just trying to improve all the time," he said. "Everyone enjoys the park."

Young said the park recently hosted a state horseshoe tournament and the city received many compliments on its facilities.

The park's amphitheater and gazebo can be rented for special events, Young said, such as weddings. Reservations can be made by calling 465-7011.

Young said the city has somewhat outgrown its park and that's why an effort is in the works to construct a sporting complex at the city's property on KY 55.

Young said a supervisor and a staff of five people maintain the park. He said the city's street department personnel also pitch in when needed.

A little more than $300,000 has been set aside in the city's 2012-2013 budget to maintain the park and swimming pool.

Some people have volunteered to help maintain the garden beside the gazebo in the park, Young said. They have said the gardening is therapeutic to them.

"They make it beautiful," he said.

Young said many camps are hosted at the park and several people can be seen enjoying the park at any given time. Young said he believes the park brings people to the community and they, in turn, spend money in the community.

"It may not make money, but it provides a service," he said.

Veterans Memorial Park

Taylor County Judge/Executive Eddie Rogers says the county contracts with Campbellsville Baptist Church to run Veterans Memorial Park. He says the partnership is working well.

The county provides staff to clean and mow the park and pays utility costs. In the county's 2012-2013 budget, $20,000 is set aside to pay those costs.

Rogers said VMP was built in the 1960s. The Soil Conservation District gave the area to the county, he said.

Chris Ambers of CBC says VMP offers baseball and soccer fields, a basketball court, sand volleyball courts, several practice fields and a playground. He said some fields can be rented for various tournaments.

Ambers said the park this year has been packed with people playing and attending games. On one Thursday night, he said, he counted 300 cars at the park.

"Anytime you have 300 cars on a Thursday night, this is something," he said.

Ambers said more than 40 softball and volleyball teams have used the park this summer for practices and games. Using VMP's facilities is free, Rogers said, and many in the community take advantage of that.

"We have walkers every day."

Rogers said he sees VMP as a service to Taylor County residents, whether it's for exercise or a place to gather with friends for a picnic.

Green River Lake State Park

Park Manager Sharion Abney says GRL is one of few state parks currently open in the state. She said many have had to close because of low water levels. In Taylor County, she said, the water level remains normal.

"We have a nice area," she said.

Abney said the park offers a beach, playground and much more. The beach is open from 11 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. and is for adults age 17 and older. Children attending must be accompanied by an adult.

"It's free and open to anyone," she said, "as long as they abide by the rules."

So far this summer season, Abney said, the crowds at GRL have been large.

"Oh my goodness," she said. "It's been covered up this year."

Gil Lawson, spokesperson for the Department of Parks, says GRL has a campground with 156 RV sites, 72 tent camp sites, a shower, restrooms, miniature golf, 28 miles of multi-purpose trails for hiking, biking and horseback riding, several picnic areas, a basketball court, convenient store and water sports.

For those who don't like water sports, Lawson said, there is plenty of wildlife to observe. And, he said, the activities don't cost a penny.

"If you want to spend a day at the park, you could do that for free," he said.

The goal for the park, Lawson said, is to maintain the wildlife living in the area and give people a place to do physical activities.

GRL was completed in 1969, Lawson said, and encompasses 1,300 acres. The park operates with funding from the General Assembly and revenue generated from camping fees. This fiscal year's budget totals $525,000. Projected revenue is $540,000.

Abney said the state park offers many special events each year, from Halloween events in October, Kids Outdoor Day in June and Armed Forces Weekend in mid-May. Campgrounds stay full during the summer, Abney said, and seasonal workers at Amazon.com and others make their homes at the park from September to December.

Lawson said many families come to the lake for picnics and to just spend time together. Picnic areas can be reserved by calling 465-8255.

Playing softball together never grows old

Coed combos in VMP league

Bobby Brockman
sports@cknj.com

Nearly three dozen teams have fielded softball teams this summer at Veterans Memorial Park in three divisions. But, it seems that no one had more fun than players in the 10-team Coed Church League.

It also gave a chance for several different family combinations to play together during the eight-week league which concludes next week.

"I still like playing," David Cox said recently before playing a game last week with daughter Lauren on the Green River Memorial Baptist team. "And, I really enjoy the fellowship."

"He might be the oldest player on our team, but he's also probably in the best shape," offered GRMB coach Aaron Gabehart.

David, who has followed his daughters' careers (Mackenzie is Lauren's older sister), started out helping as a coach at Trace Creek Park before helping out as a public address announcer at Taylor County High School, where Lauren was a stand-out pitcher through the 2008 season.

Jody and Shawn Ford have played softball most of their lives. Jody, is still considered one of the best pitchers in the area while Shawn still plays after a stellar athletic career in softball and basketball at Green County in 1986. Last Tuesday, they were the pitcher and catcher for Summersville Baptist's team.

The Kirtley sisters, Ashley (TCHS 2006) and Leanna (TCHS 2014) may be eight years apart, but they looks so much alike they could pass for twins and some folks confuse mom, Lisa, as a an older sister.

The girls play for Salem Baptist with mom usually offering support from the front bleacher row with daddy, Bobby, who missed last week's action with farm work as did Ashley with a previous commitment.

The very competitive Abney brothers, Clint (TCHS 2011) and Anthony (TCHS 2013) also play for Salem Baptist, which seems to have the whole church involved either as a player or spectator.

If Chanci decided to play softball, the entire Yates clan would spend most nights together at VMP.

Ronnie Yates umpires a couple of nights a week, when he's not coaching Jackson Gas' Industrial League team, while wife Michelle and son Hunter (Campbellsville High 2012) play for one of the two Living Grace teams.

"By the way the Yates combo had six good at-bats," Hunter told a scorekeeper after last week's game. And, yes Ronnie did umpire the LGC game. However, it didn't help as LGC fell to Green River Memorial.

The taller and former Taylor County hardwood performer Alan Herron (TCHS 1988) still can dominate his son, Blake (2010), on the court, but that doesn't mean he has to take a backseat on the diamond.

"We play about every week at Big B (Campbellsville Baptist Church)," Alan said of his family hoop happenings. "But, in softball he's a whole lot faster and plus batting left-handed he's better."

It was odd that, through some quick research, a brother-sister combo on any team was not found.

However, there are several combinations among the 150 or so players (husband-wife, father-son, father-daughter, mother-son, sister-sister, brother-brother) in the Coed Church division — a Tuesday night league quite unique for this area and in this state.

Burkhead bowing out of baseball scene

Kevin Burkhead has been involved with sports all his life. This past May could be his last season on the diamond.

Burkhead, a 1985 Campbellsville High School graduate, has decided not to remain on Nelson County High School's baseball staff as an assistant.

Burkhead has lots of fine memories of his time in Campbellsville as his baseball coaching days started with the late Robert Kearney and the Little League Twins in 1986.

Youth sports have always been Burkhead's first love and he is probably the only person to have coached three local athletes who became professionals.

He coached PGA golfer John "J.B." Holmes and St. Louis Cardinals' AAA baseball player Zack Cox with the Babe Ruth Braves and coached Andy Baldwin, who pitched in the Detroit Tigers' organization, on the Babe Ruth All Stars.

Bobby Brockman is sports editor. He can be reached at 465-8111 Ext. 225 or at sports@cknj.com Burkhead won three league titles with the Braves plus a state championship and one Little League crown with Kearney's Twins. He won over 150 games in Babe Ruth League baseball, regular-season and all-star games combined. He also was part of three Community Club football titles with Mitch Overstreet and even won a regular-season and tournament title in Community Club basketball.

At Nelson County, he was part of four district baseball championships and one region runner-up squad.

An odd accomplishment in his Babe Ruth baseball days was he had two players — Marcus Anderson and Adrian Shively — who lead his Braves to over 100 stolen bases in one season.

Burkhead will continue to coach the Nelson County High School girls' golf team which he has done since 2003 and had two individuals qualify for three state tournaments. His Lady Cardinal squad was third in region last fall. He has had one player be regional runner-up and has had four of his girls earn college scholarships.

Burkhead, you might remember, is also the only person to see every Campbellsville University varsity football game (all 258 of them) since 1988 as the team's statistician. He also did the junior varsity games of 1987.

Ironically, he committed to work for Fighting Tigers' head coach Ron Finley at — you guessed it — a Babe Ruth League baseball game.

Hayes Mason, shown here after his second-place finish in Elizabethtown, placed first in the boys' 9-10-year-old division at the Pepsi Tour Event at Lakeside Golf Course on July 17 by winning on the first playoff hole. He qualifies for the Pepsi Tour of Champions event at Oxmoor Country Club in Louisville on July 30-31.

Sports Calendar

Taylor County Youth Football League coaches

Anyone interested in coaching in the Taylor County Youth Football League needs to fill out an application (name, address, phone number) and send a copy of their driver's license to: P.O. Box 843, Campbellsville, Ky. 42719 by July 26. A one-day coaching clinic will be held Saturday, Aug. 4 from 9 a.m. to noon in the Taylor County High School cafeteria.

TCHS Soccer Alumni Game/Car Show set for Saturday

The Taylor County High School Soccer Alumni Game and Car Show will be held on Saturday, July 28 at the Cardinals' home field and in the parking lot. All alumni are invited to attend and the car show is opened to all local clubs with dash plaques to be given to the first 100 entries. Local talent will perform in the afternoon and there will be a fun game for the kids. For more info, contact boys' coach Mike McFee at nuffsaidsb@hotmail.com or girls' coach Kelli Fathergill at ksfathergill@gmail.com.

Taylor County Youth Football sign-ups Aug. 6, 7 and 9

Sign-ups for Taylor County Youth Football League (ages 6 through 12) will be Monday, Aug. 6, Tuesday, Aug. 7 and Thursday, Aug. 9 from 5:30-7:30 p.m. in the Taylor County High School cafeteria.

CU hosts Athletic Boosters Auction on Aug. 9

Campbellsville University will hosts its eighth annual Athletic Booster Club auction and dinner on Aug. 9 at 6 p.m. in the Winters Dining Hall. The event will begin at 6 p.m. with the silent auction items (approximately 20) open for bid and the meal scheduled to start at 6:30 in the Winters Dining Hall on campus. Toward the end of the meal, a live auction will feature approximately 30 items, which include sports collectibles, golf outings and vacation destinations. Some of the most popular vacation spots include a week-long trip to a three-bedroom condo in Naples and a week's stay in Aruba. Pioneer College Caterers will once again provide the meal for the auction with a planned menu of bacon-wrapped beef tenderloin with grilled shrimp skewers, loaded mashed potatoes, fresh green beans and a field greens salad with a strawberry vinaigrette. Each year, the auction helps kick off the upcoming university athletics calendar and booster club fund-raising efforts. Over the past five years, the event has brought in more than $60,000 and has seen a steady increase each year. Last year, the Campbellsville community and university alumni and friends set a record by raising more than $18,000 with 18 event sponsorships — a major increase from more than $7,000 and three sponsorships in 2007. Cost for the event is $25 per person and the attire is business casual. Tickets are on sale now through Aug. 3. Tickets are being sold by Campbellsville University coaching staffs, Big Maroon Club members and the CU office of development. For more information about tickets, contact Chuck Vaughn, director of the Big Maroon Club, at 789-5149 or Karen Fawcett (789-5257), Tax deductions are also available for sponsorships and donated auction items. For more information on being a sponsor or donating an auction item, contact the CU office of development at 270-789-5211. There are three sponsorships levels available: a Gold sponsorship of $500, Silver of $250 and Bronze of $125. All proceeds from the night go to Campbellsville University's 24 varsity athletic programs for 2012-2013.

Auctioneers for the night will be Campbellsville's own John Kessler and Rufus Hansford.

Haskins father/daughter duo headlines inaugural Kentucky High School Basketball Hall of Fame class

10 men's, two women's players and four coaches in first class

The newly-established Kentucky High School Basketball Hall of Fame inducted its inaugural class on July 14 at the Historic State Theater located at 209 West Dixie Avenue in downtown Elizabethtown.

The first Hall of Fame class featured Taylor County legend Clem Haskins and his daughter Clemette. The two were billed as The First Family of Kentucky High School Basketball.

"What an amazing and grand event this was," said Rick Whobrey, the Hall's Executive Director.

"To have so many basketball icons from the 1940-1980s here was incredible, truly historic. And to think that Clem and Clemette were both in the first class — how special is that?"

There was a very strong Taylor County flavor to the inaugural event in addition to Clem the program was co-hosted by Christi Thomas McGwire, a Taylor County native and the Hall's Executive Director, Rick Whobrey is a former resident of the county.

The Kentucky Association of Basketball Coaches began work to form the Hall of Fame in 2008.

It now operates as a separate organization and is governed by an independent board of directors.

Clem Haskins and his daughter, Clemette, were two of the 16 inaugural members of the Kentucky High School Basketball Hall of Fame, inducted July 14 in Elizabethtown.

Kentucky High School Basketball Hall of Fame

Hall of Famer	High school
Ralph Beard	Male
Coach Roy Bowling	Laurel County
Coach Ralph Carlisle	Lexington Lafayette
Rex Chapman	Owensboro Apollo
"King" Kelly Coleman	Wayland
Richie Farmer	Clay County
Darrell Griffith	Male
Geri Grigsby	McDowell
Cliff Hagan	Owensboro
Clem Haskins	Durham/Taylor County
Clemette Haskins	Warren Central
Wallace "Wah Wah" Jones	Harlan
Coach Bobby Keith	Clay County
Jim McDaniels	Allen County
Coach S. T. Roach	Lexington Dunbar
Wes Unseld	Seneca

JORDAN PERCELL, SEAN Woods and Clem Haskins got together on Friday morning in Campbellsville. Percell, a Campbellsville High graduate, will be a sophomore this season at Morehead State where Woods will be in his first season as head coach. Haskins was inducted into the Kentucky High School Hall of Fame on July 14 in Elizabethtown.

COLLIN WHITE, 9, caught this 3 1/2-ound largemouth bass earlier this summer fishing on Green River Lake with his uncle, Todd.

Thank you for being the pure, honest, Godly man of servant leadership that you livedd aily!
Thank you also for the beautiful song leading at Eastside Baptist Church.
Thank you for your service to our country in the U.S. Navy.
Thank you for your dedication to the Andy Bowen Masonic Lodge.
Thank you for efficient care of me through serious heart surgery and the rehabilitation that followed.
Love never fails. Love never fades. Love never ends.
When we become as one with our spouse, at their death, we lose part of ourselves. Only the widowed can know this particular loneliness that is as tangible as our own flesh. Living through my grief for you is a very conscious endeavor that takes ingenuity, discipline and focus. Acceptance of your death and a subsequent new way of life does not just happen; it is crafted in faith and prayers to God and the invaluable help of those who understand and care.
Thank you for beautiful memories,
I love you,
Sarah
